Tyrolit acquires Scanmaskin & Scanmineral – strengthening market position in floor preparation

Effective from 1 January 2025, the Tyrolit Group has acquired 100% of the Scanmaskin Group. This acquisition enhances Tyrolit's market position in the floor preparation sector, making it a full-service and system provider in this field.

Regarding Diamond Products and Scanmaskin:

Diamond Products is a company that manufactures and distributes diamond tools and equipment for the construction industry. Josh Headings, who worked for Scanmaskin for 10 years to help launch their brand in North and South America, is now joining Diamond Products to strengthen their floor prep offerings.

Scanmaskin is a manufacturer of floor grinding and polishing equipment, including related diamond tooling. In summary, Scanmaskin machines are now available through Diamond Products in the U.S.

As a result of the Tyrolit Group's acquisition of Scanmaskin Group, all customers looking to purchase Scanmaskin floor grinders — including parts, service and training — in the U.S. can now contact Diamond Products Limited. While Scanmaskin US is now operated by Diamond Products, all existing Scanmaskin dealers remain in place.

You can find Diamond Products and all authorized Scanmaskin dealers on the companies respective website and reseller map. For inquiries, orders, or support, please reach out to Diamond Products directly.
